Summary:

Cesar and Isabelle Mendès have formed a volcanic couple for almost twenty year now. Thus, it is not surprising that their divorce is becoming a natural disaster, with collateral damages for everyone close to them, beginning with their three children. She wants the full custody of the children. He does too. The Family Court imposed them alternating custody, to take more time for a mediation and finally an « amicable » agreement... But nothing is written in stone because when it comes to tricking one another, the Mendès never lack imagination. In the end, for a separating couple, they are quite obsessed with each other. Will they ever admit they still love each other?
